In the past year, the intensity of ransomware attacks on critical IT infrastructure and the move to hybrid work have caused IT business leaders to consider new security strategies with endpoint detection and response (EDR).

Masergy Managed EDR customers were unaffected by all ransomware attacks

Masergy Managed EDR protects against the worst cybersecurity threats facing mid-sized enterprises. Masergy Managed EDR is a cloud-based subscription service, powered by Gartner Magic Quadrant Leader SentinelOne, providing artificial intelligence-based detection that prevents ransomware and other malware infections on any network endpoint.

For midsized enterprises with overworked IT staff, Masergy Managed EDR can improve security outcomes while offloading the day-to-day management to tenured cybersecurity experts in Masergy's three security operations centers. Corporate IT departments can minimize risk exposure to endpoints with 24/7 continuous threat monitoring, alert triage, and incident handling—all from a turnkey cloud-based managed security solution.

Masergy is offering a special limited-time promotion on our Managed EDR solutions

All new Masergy Managed EDR deals closed between July 1, 2022 and October 31, 2022 will receive 1 month of free EDR service for every 1 year of their service contract. The longer the service contract, the more free months of Masergy Managed EDR service a customer will receive. Sign a 2-year contract and get 2 months free or sign a 3-year contract to receive the maximum of 3 free months of Masergy Managed EDR protection.
